Setting the Tone

“This contemporary foyer in Boca Raton embodies a sophisticated, timeless elegance that welcomes visitors with both grandeur and warmth,” says designer Susan Connor. “The focal point of the space is the striking two-story, floating staircase. Crafted from bronze metal, it features custom-stained white oak treads with finished end caps, creating a seamless, modern flow.”

Bold Move

“Our goal with this Vero Beach project was transforming a small, mundane, utilitarian room into a playful, color-rich workspace,” says designer Lisa Erdmann. “The clients love pattern and color, so we started with bold wallpapers and drapery fabrics to add personality to the space. The hardwood oak flooring is a counterpoint to the custom cabinetry and millwork, both of which are painted in Benjamin Moore’s Napa Vineyards green. Whimsical orchid-themed drawer pulls add the final exclamation point.”
